

Dear Teacher,

Dyslexia plays a very important role in the life of our family and we would be very grateful if you would take a few minutes to read about this very important (& fun) campaign that Code REaD Dyslexia Network are hosting throughout the month of October.

The symbol of the campaign is the Red Paper Plane, this symbol represents promoting a new type of aeroplane, one that provides everything a dyslexic needs to navigate their world successfully. To create a world where those with dyslexia are encouraged to soar. To do more than fly, but to soar, rise swiftly and feel the wind slipping below them as they rise higher and higher!

To achieve this Code REaD is asking all schools to Get Onboard and soar to a better future where all people with dyslexia are acknowledged through early identification, understanding and inclusion; supported with evidence based teaching, access to assistive technology and reasonable accommodations, and empowered with equal access to the curriculum and opportunity.

The aim of the Get Onboard campaign

- Is to spread awareness about dyslexia
- Help schools, teachers and students to learn how they can best support people with dyslexia
- Create a positive and inclusive environment for those with dyslexia

There are many ways that your school can become involved with the Get Onboard Campaign. We have a list of ideas to get you started below;

- Hold a whole school, year level or classroom Red Paper Plane Challenge using our downloadable templates and lesson plans that cover Years Prep to 10 and are aligned with the national curriculum.
- Hold an information session for parents and the local community about dyslexia and how your school is using evidence based teaching to help all students.
- Get classes to compete to create the best red paper plane decoration/display for your school.
- Have dyslexic students that are willing to, talk to teachers about how dyslexia impacts them and how they can be best supported.
- There is no limit to the creativity of the project. For example you can set school goals!
- You can tailor the event to your schools size and facilities.
